	Cantine Volpetti Winery, situated in the Colli Albani near Rome, has a rich winemaking history since 1958. The family's mission focuses on cultivating indigenous and national grape varieties, including Malvasia Puntinata, Cesanese, Sangiovese, and more. Their commitment to quality, elegance, tradition, and innovation is clear in a diverse range of wines that showcase the unique strengths of the Colli Albani terroir. The vineyard density is wide, 3,000/3,500 per hectare. The Frascati D.O.C. Feudi dei Papi comes from indigenous grape Malvasia Putinata and national varieties, as Trebbiano. The method used is spur cordon; the maturation happens in stainless steel tanks, with a harvesting at the end of September. It presents a straw-yellow colour, delicate and pleasantly fruity scent, dry and harmonious flavour. Pairs well with starters, soups, white meats, and fish dishes.
